with cordial receptions and people seemed glad to see them at er i point. His State, he explained, had spent a good deal of money on the prevention of crime and was working on the theory that the children should be developed not only mentally but morally, in heart as well as in mind with a building up of Christian character. Gov. West began by explaining the size of Covariance of the control o of Oregon and industrial conditions there. Everybody knew about Oregon apples he said, and they brought more in the he said, and they brought more in the New York markets than home grown fruit because, for one reason, they were packed better. Their apples are packed by an association and not by the individual fruit grower, so when you open a box you are sure that every apple is as good as the ones on top.

"You know you get a square deal on apples," he said, "and it is the same in the government of the State. The first thing we got from the politicians was the Australian ballot and then a registration law so that they could not you dead mon law so that they could not vote dead men on election day. Washington, Dec. 10. Interest among eaders who are arriving here to attend the meeting of the Republican national committee, to be held on Tuesday, was centred to-night on the situation in Ohio, where opposition has developed within the party to the renomination of President Taft. Responding to a request of National Committeeman Arthur I. Vorys of Ohio, who was conspicuous in the management of the Taft pre-convention cam-paign of 1908, Walter L.
